Dear Friends,

This year the North Carolina Mountain State Fair celebrates its 18th anniversary. I would like to invite you and your families to come and enjoy the best of Western North Carolina's "Farm Fresh Fun" as you experience livestock shows and displays as well as food that is fresh from the farm. New this year will be the Davis Event Center, where you will find the commercial vendors displaying their wares in the comfort of a 45,000 square foot heated and air conditioned space. The "Community Booth" competition will also be housed here. There are limited booth spaces so be sure to send in your entries for this competition early.

The Expo Building will again include the Arts and Crafts, Photos, Quilts and Hand Sewn Clothing, Cooking Competitions, Wood Carvings and many other Competitive Entry items. Come in and see who has won the Blue Ribbons and maybe even get a taste or the recipe of one of the tasty dishes prepared by some of the South's best cooks!

As always, be sure to pay special attention when looking for the right class to enter as well as the many new deadlines, classes and requirements in this awards catalog. Enter your best and we will proudly exhibit your beautiful arts, crafts, culinary, and livestock to showcase the "Farm Freshness" you have entered for all North Carolina Mountain State Fairgoers to enjoy.

We hope you will come and create memories with your family and ours at the 2011 North Carolina Mountain State Fair, Western North Carolina's premier event. Please visit us several times and experience "Farm Fresh Fun" at the North Carolina Mountain State!

Sincerely,

Matt Buchanan, Manger
